YES WOMEN ARE DICTATORS

TWO-THIRD OF THE WOMEN SURVEYERS AGREE ON AV SURVEY

Vaidhi Sachin

More than two-third of readers feel that woman, when they come to power always become dictatorial. According to the survey conducted by "Afternoon Voice", woman's popularity and their success in odd world makes them stronger and that demands dictatorship to control situations without getting dominated or exploited by male around. AfternoonVoice directly interacted with few of them who shared their views about this issue.

Vandana Shah, Eminent lawyer and writer
In response to your women on top getting dictatorial:

- ▶ It's a traditional role reversal so to change the pre-existing mindset, of women as caregiver and man as enforcer, women become dictatorial.
- ▶ Men respond better to orders rather than requests because of a patriarchal mindset

Dr. Nivica Jacob, Doctor

Women dictator? Maybe Eva Peron? Maggy Thatcher was called a dictator by some Labor political activists- does this count? Indira Gandhi before body guards killed her for acting contrary to Indian law- sort of dictator acting? Golda Meier of Israel had a few name calling sessions where the word dictator was used- this was one of the milder curses. Bizno (killed) of Pakistan accused of extralegal orders as well as corruption, a possible example. Man and wife torn dictator-Romania, Closes or some such spelling, last of the Stalinist/Socialist rulers.

How many women, worldwide, have served in any military long enough to rise to a rank where they could consolidate enough power to take over any government? None, that's why, to the best of my knowledge there has never been a female dictator. One could argue that Indira Gandhi, Mayawati and Mamata Banerjee the dictators, but look at the ruthless pain they have undergone. How many women became Prime Minister or President of this country? Hardly one in number, but if they reach at peak they have to be strict and strong to control the male dominating social structure.

Vinita Lavate, Avial Reader

Wrong attitude and understanding about POWER can run any woman/man....Yes there is something nasty about women-decisions but it's present in their nature. But even women have learned lessons now....and nowadays persons like you, Jeebhari Gurjar, Abha Singh, Tugri Mallickar, Namrata Acharya-Thennakar, Rajal Mistry, Kaschan Firdos Karvi, Anita Sushil Jai Kulkarni, Anjali Kedar Karanjkar, Pooznan Valera, Ketaki Gajar Mukta Atal Keskar, Manisha Arwat, Prachi Tayade , Nimsika Moon are so much MATURE, dashing and still down to earth than anybody can think!

Rajal Mistry, Asimatrix

"They become dictator during their journey to the top, their thoughts shift from being achievers to avengers, perhaps the situation demands them."
